A Great Summer Resort

ANY cities are specially noted for their historic associations. Others again are dear to the heart of the antiquary, who delights to grope among old ruins, and unearth hidden mementoes of the past. Such places have received prominent recognition in guide-books, and around them linger shadowy memories of the buried years.

Toronto has a history and a past, undoubtedly. Over two hundred years ago, in the early days of French rule, Toronto is mentioned in their old records. In 1749 the French established a trading post and fort here, naming the settlement Fort Rouillé.

Seven years later this fort was dismantled and abandoned by the French, owing to lack of sufficient military protection for those very troublous times. In May, 1793, Lieutenant-Colonel John Graves Simcoe, appointed Governor of Upper Canada during the previous year, arrived from England and established the town of York, landing at a spot near the mouth of the Don River. In 1834 the town was incorporated as a city, resuming its old Indian name Toronto. This title signified "a place of meeting" for the French and Indian voyageurs and wandering native tribes.

But it is of the present time that this work deals.

Modern Toronto! gay, bustling, mirth-loving Toronto! A beautiful city, with wide, clean streets, massive downtown warehouses of hewn stone and brick, palatial stores thronged with armies of shoppers. Uptown, the residential thoroughfares, each with its bright border of greensward, lined with avenues of luxuriant shade trees, the leafy horse-chesnut and sturdy maple (Canada's dear emblem), flanked on either side by the mansions of the wealthy, or the cottages of the artisan. Such a city is Toronto, with a background of low, billowy hills, skirted east and west by beautifully laid out parks, pretty rivers and streams, and situated on a splendid harbour. Across the harbour lies the "Island," beyond and around heave and glisten the clear, cool waters of Lake Ontario. Over all, the bright blue dome of an Italian sky completes a picture as fair as one will find on this continent. No wonder is it that this city is year by year increasing in favor as a most fitting place for holding monster conventions, as an objective point for large excursions, and as an ideal abiding place during the summer season.

Among other interesting features, Toronto enjoys the distinction of possessing the highest building in Canada. dom above 80 degrees or below 55 degrees, while the average is 67 degrees, ordinary summer costume is most suitable. July is the hottest month generally. The favorable position of Toronto between great bodies of water, the south and southwest winds tempered by the close proximity of Lake Ontario, the more prevalent northwest breezes, wafted over 500 miles across Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron, give Toronto a delightfully cool and equable summer temperature. Mosquitoes and black flies are an unknown quantity ; malaria and hay fever find no abiding place in the healthy invigorating atmosphere.

The salubrity of the climate, the purity and excellence of the water supply, and the splendid drainage system, make Toronto eminently suitable as a health resort and headquarters for recognized sanatoriums.

In respect to hospitals (public and private) Toronto takes a foremost place. Among the most important are the Toronto General Hospital, on Gerrard street east, situated in extensive grounds ; the Victoria Hospital for Sick Children, on College street, with its summer quarters—the Lakeside Home—on the Island, monuments to the liberality and philanthropy of Mr. John Ross Robertson ; the Grace Homœopathic Hospital, on College street ; St. John's (for women) ; Hillcrest Convalescent Home ; St. Michael's

The Civic and Street Railway sprinklers distribute about 75,000,000 gallons of water during the season ; the streets are consequently kept delightfully cool and free from dust.

Let us glance now at some of the chief resorts, parks and gardens in and adjacent to Toronto.

TORONTO ISLAND.

By popular consent, this is Toronto's show place, the rendezvous of her citizens and guests, the place where "everybody goes"—rich and poor, old and young.

It is the first sight of land which greets the traveller from across the lake, and the appearance of the low sandy shore, dotted with clumps of trees, caused the Indians to christen the place with a name signifying "trees standing out of the water."

Viewed from the bay approach, it presents a delightful scene to the joyous crowds of pleasure-seekers on board the fine steamboats of the Toronto Ferry Company, which ply back and forth. The general outline speedily assumes definite form and color, showing, to the eastward, the long break-water ; in the centre, the deep green foliage of Island Park ; or, as the west end, or Hanlan's Point, is approached, a more "Coney Island" air is apparent; and stirring strains of band music are wafted across the intervening water.

Summer Pleasures.

(The ferries leave the wharf at the foot of Yonge street every few minutes and afford an excellent service at the nominal charge of 10 cents for the round trip.)

If you want a day's genuine fun and diversified amusement, go the Point. You can get an excellent meal at the fine Hotel Hanlan, or a somewhat more modest repast at one of the restaurants. You may witness championship lacrosse and baseball games or bicycle races on the splendid grounds and track—the best in Canada. You may indulge in the youthful pastimes provided by the swings, carousals, rifle galleries, stick-ringing, etc., or enjoy a good game of billiards or tenpins. The music of the fine bands enlivens the day and furnishes fitting accompaniment to a stroll along the broad promenade. During the evening you will, of course, “take in” the Roof Garden Musicale, and after having “seen and done it all,” you will probably want to go again. Boating is a popular amusement at the Point: boats and canoes can be rented, and there are few prettier sights than the flotilla of small craft of every description clustered round the promenade and band stand at night, the rays of manycolored electric lights converting the scene into a veritable “fairy land” of Venice.

There is quite a summer population at the Point, occupying pretty cottages or living at the hotels or boarding-houses.

Should you prefer a quieter spot, you will go to Island Park. There you may wander through the leafy glades and avenues of the park, lounge upon the level greensward, listening to the band, stroll by the lake shore, or, taking boat or canoe, thread your way through the mazes of the many lagoons which intersect the island. This is the great resort for families, picnic and excursion parties. Streets of cottages have been erected, where citizens spend the summer months: a handsome semi-private hotel affords excellent accommodation for boarders or the casual guest. There are also good restaurants and stores at Island Park.

their bent and indulge romantic fancies at the far eastern point, known as "Ward's," where the habitations of man are scattered, and the ownership and occupation of the soil are disputed by the frogs—the "musicians of the marsh"

—the solitary heron, the fleet-winged duck or dainty snipe. Here one may commune with nature, the unceasing lullaby of the waves upon the stony shore begetting dreamy reveries. To this spot the wary fisherman repairs with rod and line. There are some cottages here and a small hotel.

QUEEN'S PARK.

Victoria University.

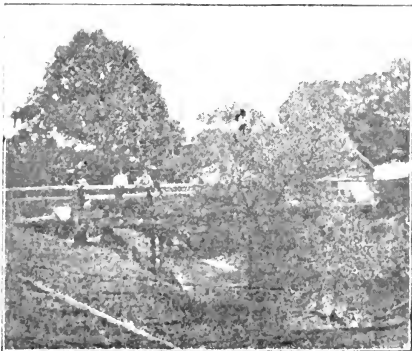

Queen's Park furnishes the largest quota of prominent institutions. It is beautifully kept, and though not of great extent, the rolling greensward, relieved by beds of brilliant flowers, variegated foliage plants and shrubbery, intersected by gravel paths and shaded by patriarchal forest trees, render this a charming retreat and lounging place.

The Ontario Parliament Buildings form the chief centre of interest. The massive brown stone pile is situated in the middle of the Park, and is remarkable at once for solid strength of architecture and beauty of carving; while the interior is admirably arranged for the business of the Province. Fine statues have been erected in the Park, near the Parliament Buildings: one to the east commemorating the North-West Rebellion of 1885; to the west that of the late Hon. George Brown, journalist, politician and patriot; and a handsome monument dedicated to the memory of members of the Queen's Own Rifles who perished in the Fenian raid of 1866. Facing the Buildings is a splendid bronze statue of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's "Grand Old Man."

Band concerts are held in the park during the season in the handsome band stand behind the Parliament Buildings.

TORONTO—A GREAT SUMMER RESORT.

To the north-east, by Belt Line or Church street cars, are the Rosedale Ravines. These still retain much of their primitive rugged grandeur, but civilizing influences have toned down somewhat their natural wildness, providing, as compensation, charming drives and walks beside murmuring rivulets, which find their way by devious courses to the placid Don, mingling their waters in the onward flow to Lake Ontario. On the steep banks, beneath tall, dark pines, grow innumerable wild flowers, at once the joy of eager children and the studious botanist.

St. James' Cemetery is laid out on a portion of these Ravines to the south-east.

summer resorts which lie on the western outskirts of the city on the lake shore. Connection is made at Sunnyside (a great headquarters for boating) with the Lake Shore branch of the Street Railway, which reaches High Park, Humber Bay and River, Mimico and Long Branch, the present terminus of the street car. Lorne Park, farther west, is reached by boat or by Grand Trunk Railway.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

An annual affair of more than local or even Provincial importance is the Industrial Exhibition, held during the first two weeks of September. The buildings erected for the purpose are very extensive and yearly receive fresh additions, so great is the demand for space for exhibits. Exhibition Park—more than 100 acres in extent, in which these buildings are situated—is beautifully laid out, bordering on the lake shore. It is open to the public, except when in use for the Exhibition.

Drive in High Park.

The Exhibition Grounds are reached from all parts of the city by street car. Special excursions, at very reduced rates, are also arranged over the lines of the Grand Trunk Railway system.

HIGH PARK.

This is the people's playground, and shares popular favor equally with the "Island." It is a great meeting-place for the bicycling fraternity. Here on Saturday afternoons and Sundays you may witness a genuine "round up" of bicyclists of both sexes, old and young, big and little.

TORONTO—A GREAT SUMMER RESORT.

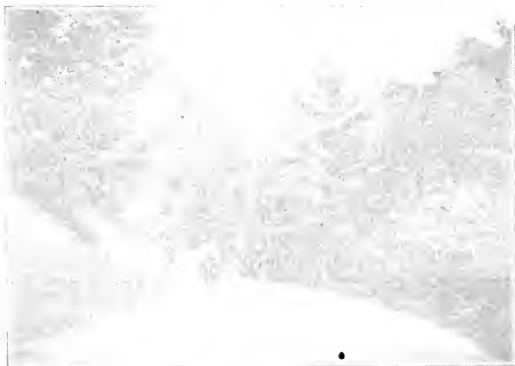

Howard Cottage, High Park.

The Park covers 320 acres of ground, and belongs to the city. It was, in part, the gift of the late J. G. Howard, whose remains, with those of his wife, are interred in a sequestered spot in a fine tomb which is surrounded by an old railing. This railing once formed part of the enclosure around St. Paul's Cathedral. Much of the primeval grandeur still remains as in the time when the savage disputed possession with the denizens of the forest, or met in bloody warfare his hereditary foe.

Rolling hills and deep valleys, calm water stretches, placid rivers and tinkling rivulets; underfoot, a variegated carpet of moss, ferns and wild flowers, overspreading all the waving billows of dark woods—in their dim recesses a brooding bush. Such is High Park au naturel.

A considerable portion, however, has been reclaimed, modernized and improved. There will be found wide level roads, the delight of bicyclist and horseman. Refreshment pavilions offer their tempting displays of

A Beautiful Summer Resort, situate on the northern shore of Lake Ontario, about 14 miles west of Toronto, reached by both rail and boat.

“cool drinks” and more solid nourishment to the crowds of pleasure seekers. Groups of picknickers are everywhere to be found gathered around their al fresco repasts, struggling with refractory lunch baskets, or with their more or less varied contents.

On the western border of the Park is the Humber River. This pretty winding stream rises from the north, and flowing through beautiful scenery, debouches into Lake Ontario at Humber Bay. There is excellent fishing in the bay and river. This is a favorite resort for boating and picnic parties. High Park and the Humber are reached by the King and Queen west street-cars and Grand Trunk Railway. The most direct route to High Park, however, is by the Carlton and College, cross-town route.

Leaving the Humber, the trolley car winds through leafy lanes, past well-tilled fields, and, emerging again upon the lake shore, speeds rapidly on its way. Mimico is soon reached. It is a pretty village, noted chiefly for being the site of the Asylum, which consists of a group of fine buildings situated in extensive grounds. Numbers of summer residences are espied along the route, bowered in fruitful orchards, on the lake shore. Mimico is a favorite suburban resort for many Toronto families.

Long Branch (9 miles from the city), a popular resort for Torontonians, is the terminus of this line. The Lake Shore line terminates at combining all the advantages and attractions of a first-class summer sojourning place, with rapid transit to and from the city, Lorne Park takes front rank. It is but 15 miles distant from Toronto and is well served by the excellent train service of the Grand Trunk Railway. The journey by boat (the Greyhound) from Toronto is a delightful trip, much patronized by excursionists and the residents of the Park. The Greyhound leaves the wharf at the foot of Yonge street. The view of the Park from the water is very fine, but a closer inspection is required to reveal its hidden beauties. Lorne Park consists of 88 acres of hill and dale, undulating, bush-covered and carpeted with greensward and field flowers. Here will be found the summer homes of many well-known Toronto business men who with their families spend the whole season at this resort.

The Hotel Louise, conducted by Messrs. Lucas & Co., is prettily situated on the lake front, embowered in shade trees. There is a spacious verandah which commands a fine view of Lake Ontario. The general equipment of this popular hotel is first-class in every respect. Messrs. Lucas & Co. are also proprietors of the well-known Lucas House on the north-west corner of the new City Hall. This is, without doubt, the finest temperance hotel in Canada.

These are Mr. W. E. Davis, the General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System, with headquarters in Montreal; Mr. M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent, and Mr. J. E. Quick, General Baggage Agent, both of the same

CLUBS.

The social amenities of this city are very happily promoted and encouraged by the various athletic and social clubs, as many visitors can testify who have been introduced into and entertained by the hospitalities of Toronto clubdom.

The principal social clubs are the Toronto, National, Albany, Granite, Victoria, Athenæum and Canadian Military Institute.

The prominent aquatic and athletic clubs are the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, with the large membership of over 750. The Island Club House of this popular organization is a very attractive structure surrounded by beautiful lawns. The town quarters are situated on the water-front, opposite the Union Station.

Close by is the Argonaut Rowing Club's headquarters. This is also a very handsome and well equipped building, and the Argonauts enjoy the proud distinction of possessing the big four-oared crew stroked by Joe Wright, probably the finest in America.

The Toronto Rowing Club, with quarters at the Island, and the Don Rowing Club, located at the East End, are among the representative aquatic organizations. The Toronto Athletic Club, on College street, possesses the finest club-house in the city, thoroughly equipped in all departments.
